

Date: Wed, 18 Oct 2000 13:19:27 BST

Hello Zonezero,

My name is Paul and I am a studying BA Honours degree in photography at Stockport College in Greater Manchester, England. I'm currently in my final year and writing my dissertation on the implication to photography with the advent of the digital era. While researching I found yourselves. I find your web site very useful in my quest and if you may have any extra possible input that would help my research I would be extremely grateful as its quite hard to find info on this subject as its such a new issue not many people have written books on it. Anyway i'm off to research some more,

many thank, Paul.