I stumbled upon your site while doing a search for 'Pedro Meyer'. I saw his work in apperture.com. I was totally overwhelmed by your site, as a collector and admirer of photographs I must say that your site brings the world of photography to my fingertips, much more than any other site that I have seen.

However I've had trouble placing this site in the context of a commercial site.

Is your intention to provide artists with a site to showcase their work? Is the work for sale? Do I have to contract the artist if I am interested in purchasing work?

Anyhow whatever your intention I love the site and will visit it often.

Thank you.
