My name is Jesse A. Tallman. I am an art student in Phoenix, AZ. I create digital manipulations of photographs and scanned images. I discovered ZoneZero through one of my instructors links...Dean Terasaki, also a digital photographer in Phoenix. I am usually intrigued with his choices of links and this one has been the most fun of them all. I really enjoy seeing other work from artist around the world - sort of peers in the field. I am currently preparing some images for submission to ZoneZero.

Let me stress again my gratitude for this site existing. And to top it off the site looks great. It reminds me of the apple website in a way... I love the simple structure and high quality small images... and there is so many!!! Thank you!
