Hello,

I would like to register with ZoneZero, as you may have guessed by now. I am thrilled to find experimental photography which is good, digital images that don't just make me feel life isn't very appealing. Because I do digital photography myself, but have been embarrassed to come out and say it too often in the presence of photographers. They can be so upset by the very idea of it. So to save the species, your site comes along, with quality art photography which is not exclusive, but reaches out to all the ways we can combine materials and approaches and come to something new and even breathtaking.

I am sending five of my own pictures for consideration in the portfolio section.

Thank you,

Tantra.
